PAUL JOSEPH WALSH.

A mighty Hercules was he.

"Dave" has been our president for the past two years and has led our class efficiently. He has also done some fine work on the gridiron, and is considered one of the best tackles in the state. His only sorrow has been connected with the size of the seats in our school.

Noted for his popularity and his long reach.

LILLIAN MARY TAYLOR.

Favors to all, to all her smile extends.

For two years Lillian has served us as Vice-President. She is certainly very popular among the pupils. Lillian believes in having a good time and has helped to make life cheerful at F. H. S. Lillian made a fine aunty in the class play, and has become noted for a particular expression. Lillian is the possessor of great tenacity, we should like to say () but are afraid of the results.

Noted for her ever ready smile.

SYBELL LAWRENCE.

The brave, stout-hearted pilgrim lads
Peculiarly charm me.

During this past year Sybell has acted as our class secretary and has filled that capacity with exceptional ability, dexterity, et cetera. Her report card bears evidence of her scholarly ability in school—Plymouth—Devens—Worcester Tech—you know how one hears such things. Sybell has been a great help to the class play.

Noted for being an "orful" tease.

FREDERICK HUBBARD BRIGHAM.

A man to all his classmates dear.

"Red" acted as treasurer of our class for two years and is one of the most popular men in school. He is often seen with Ray rushing around town. Whenever "Red" can snatch a minute from his studies he goes to a dance. He is frequently seen on the South Side. We wonder why!

Noted for his classy hats and dignified air.

BARTLIE JOSEPH ALQUIST.

Let the world slide, say I.

"Bart" is one of that pleasing sort of fellows who knock no one but boost everyone. Bart has developed a terrible thirst for golf and is now an expert.

Noted for his attempt to make Shirley Reservoir a summer resort.

GRACE ARLENE ANTHONY.

A little, lovely girl, most dear and taking.

"Quality, not quantity," is certainly personified in Arlene's case. Although we never hear her, we all know her and surely like her. She is one who wouldn't think of causing her teachers any trouble.

Noted for her size.

PHILIP WESTON ATKINSON.

Better late than never.

"Phil" is one of our able track managers. He also is a star at the newspaper business. They say he goes up West quite a lot. How about those joy rides with Gladys?

Chief occupation—coming to school late.

ALICE ATWOOD.

She is a woman, and therefore to be wooed.

Alice is a well-known member of the commercial course and also of the Girls' Friendly. She is very much interested in basketball. I wonder why. She is a frequent patron of dances and socials.

Noted for her goo-goo eyes, and fondness for Juniors.

MARJORIE AUSTIN.

In every gesture dignity.

We must hand it to Marjorie when it comes to being obliging at the lunch-counter, but she is so quiet that we would never know that she was around. Marjorie has friends everywhere and we wish her the best of luck.

FRED ELDRIDGE BACON.

Will he ever be a man?

"Red" is the little boy of our class. He loves to play with everybody, especially in 28. Freddy enjoys himself most in the sixth hour Civics class.

Noted for his pretty hair.

MILDA BADSTUBNER.

A maiden fair
With golden hair.

Milda feels right at home with the other sex. Very different from the other Shirleyites.

Noted for her flirty eyes.

DORA ANNIE BAUMAN.

A lassie dark
With raven locks.

Dora is one of our class beauties and she certainly has enough admirers, even if they only gaze from a distance. She is frequently seen at dances.

Noted for her admirers.

EVON MARIE BERGERON.

Much study is a worrier of flesh.

Evon has a hard time convincing her teachers that she likes to study. But she is a good scout and to know her is to like her.

Noted for her bangs.

PHYLLIS EVELYN BICKFORD.

I chatter, chatter all day long.

"Phyl" is never so happy as when she is wagging her tongue, as W. J. D. has found out third period. However, she can talk to a purpose, as she demonstrated last year when she won the laurels in the annual Prize Speaking contest. We are sorry to say, however, that there is a great silence when it comes to speaking in Spanish.

Noted for her unflagging flow of conversation.

HELEN ELSIE BLACKWELL.

To music doth my soul aspire.

Helen is a member of the famous "Athalia" trio and can play the 'cello very well. She is also a member of the F. H. S. orchestra and goes far to improve it. She is there when it comes to pulling good marks and stands right in with her teachers

Noted for her Civics ability.

MAE SIMONDS BRADFORD.

Sober, steadfast, and demure.

Mae came to us from Shirley during our Junior year, and we are very glad that she did. She is quiet and unassuming, and almost always knows her lessons.

Noted for her quiet ways.

BARBARA MARY BRESNAHAN.

A modest maid am I.

Barbara is one of our popular girls and also one of our bright ones. She is a friend to everybody—everybody's friend. If you see "Mil" look for Barbara; if you see Barbara look for "Mil."

Noted for her laugh and giggle.

CHARLES FREDERICK BROOKS.

To scratch the ground he doth delight.

Yes, Charles is the agriculturist of our class. He employs only highly scientific methods. But in spite of that, he has won prizes. He has also made a fine business manager of this book and property manager of the class play. And how about the blueberry trip, Charles?

RUTH BROWN.

Red as a rose is she.

Ruth is one of our part-time students and we see her only every other week. We surely miss her when she is away. She is a good student and we are proud to own her.

Noted for telling funny stories and her faithfulness to Dot.

LAWRENCE BURDO.

On with the fight.

Lawrence's favorite indoor sports are teasing the youngsters and fighting. He has engaged in some notorious battles, particularly that one in 26. However, he may get over it.

Famous as the class pugilist.

JAMES JOSEPH BURKE.

A good addition for any class.

Burke is a good man to have around. "Red" can be used on the track team and we also hear he is some mechanic.

Chief occupation—getting Opie's goat.

MARY IRENE BURNS.

Hail to thee, blithe spirit.

Mary is planning to be a stenographer until something better comes up. Her favorite occupation is attending dances and having a good time. Mary has many friends.

Chief occupation—dancing.

Noted for her happy disposition.

HELEN KATHRYN BUTTIMORE.

She spends her time in studies.

Although she spends her time in studies, she frequently hears "You haven't read your book" up in 32. We should worry, Helen. Helen is very demure at first sight.

Chief occupation—aforesaid studying.

MARION ESTELLE CALDWELL.

She studies too, and dances some,
But notwithstanding has much fun.

Yes, and Marion goes to church, too, where she has a Sunday school class of adoring infants. Still there's nothing schoolma'amish about Marion, far from it. She's smart, too. You just orta see her take down shorthand notes in assembly hall.

Noted for her French correspondence.

MARY ELLEN CAREY.

She is little, but she's wise,
She's a terror for her size.

Mary is with us only every other week, but you always realize her presence by the little buzzing sound. She and C—— seem to be very chummy because you never see one without the other.

Noted for her voice.

MICHAEL CARPINELLA.

There we see a cavalier
Of dashing mien and countenance gay.

"Mike" is a star in football and he also wears a track letter, but these are not his main accomplishments. Oh, no! Ask any of the girls. He is Miss Powers' favorite scholar but she hates to admit it.

Noted for his popularity with the girls.

IRENE GERTRUDE CHAISSON.

To all her smile extends.

When it comes to dancing, we can look to Irene. No matter where she goes she always has a good time. Irene is usually quiet at school but we wonder at the smiles she gives to Morris. We know just where to find her at recess.

Noted for her smiles and dancing ability.

ELIZABETH CHILDS.

A name that suits.

"Lizzie" is never worried. She is quite an artist, especially when it comes to nature-drawing. All her physical organs seem to be asleep except her ears.

Noted for her early morning yawns.

HELEN PIERCE CLARK.

See how she laughs, and crows and starts,
Heaven bless the merry child.

The above certainly applies to Helen, but in spite of that rumor has it that she is an expert stenographer. When she isn't studying she helps to run Goodnow-Pearson's and is proficient in that line of work, also.

Noted for her giggle.

DOROTHY ELEANORE CLARKE.

She has wit, and fun, and fire.

"Dot" is one of the happiest girls in the class. She can study—when she has to. When she isn't studying she is having a good time. We imagine that Dot likes the last-mentioned subject the best. She is also some dancer.

Noted for her enjoyment of life.

MINNIE COHEN.

Sober, steadfast and demure.

Minnie is one of our college course students and has told us how she encouraged the boys on their way to the Marne. She is popular with the fellows but has no time to spare.

Noted for her vocabulary of big words.

GEORGE FRANCIS CONNOR.

On their own merits modest men are dumb.

George is a member of our Commercial course and he believes that "silence is golden."

Noted for his noise.

EVELYN CONROY.

My attentions are elsewhere.

"Evie" is friendly with many of the boys; but don't forget ——. She is preparing for business and will surely be a great help to the business world.

Noted for her chin.

MARGARET WYLLIE CRINGAN.

And still her learning with her days increased.

Margaret is one of the most studious girls of the class, and she would think it a crime to come to school with her lessons unprepared.

Noted for her good marks.

RUTH CUSHMAN.

Boys are horrid creatures (?).

Ruth helps Mr. Howard run the commercial course, but she spends no undue amount of time on her studies. Other things interest her, but why tell secrets? She is always talking with Doris. I wonder what about.

Noted for her wavy hair.

MARION FRANCES DANIELS.

With locks of raven hue.

Marion believes that deeds speak louder than words. Life is what we make it. You can always tell Marion as she comes by her glasses.

Noted for her foolish giggle during afternoon session.

ELLIE ELIZABETH DAVIDSON.

Which is which?

Ellie is helping out the Simonds Manufacturing Company this year, and so we do not see much of her. However, few of us know whether we see her or her sister.

Noted for her love of Economics.

ELNA ESTHER DAVIDSON.

Quiet she was, forsooth not vain,
If friends be credit, she has much gain.

Every other week Elna, who is the other half of Ellie, as anyone could easily see at one glance, is Miss Miner's assistant, and she is perfectly capable of fulfilling her position.

Noted for her double.

ETHEL MAY DAVIS.

Silence is deep as eternity,
Speech as shallow as time.

Ethel comes from Mt. Elam Road and is never late or absent. She is very much admired but she refuses to have anything to do with boys.

Noted for her forbidding glances at fellows.

MABEL EMMA DEBLOIS.

Her voice was ever so soft, gentle, and low,
An excellent thing in a woman.

Mabel is one of the French sharks in Miss Powers' sixth hour class. She is very unobtrusive, but she has her secret admirers.

Noted for her quiet manner.

JOSEPH DEERY.

A man to all his classmates dear.

Too bad the war didn't last longer. Joe is the hero of the class. He enlisted in the U. S. Aviation and was only prevented from going to France by the signing of the armistice. "Never mind, I got an overseas uniform." Joe is truly a lady's man. Ask any of our P. G.'s. All the ladies call him deary.

Noted for his smile.

MARY MARGARET DOHENY.

I chatter, chatter as I go.

Mary is an innocent looking girl, but — sometimes looks are deceiving. She is fond of a good time, and generally has one.

Chief occupation—talking.

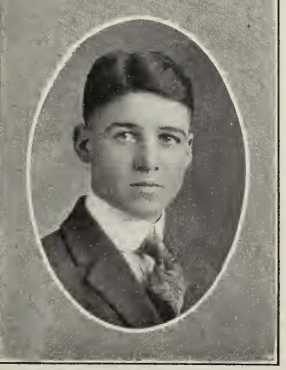

MARY AGNES DONOVAN.

I know her by her modest air.

Agnes has been very quiet during her four years of high school. She is a regular attendant at athletic games. Which one is it, Agnes? See Agnes, see Ruth.

Noted for her sunny smile.

WILLIAM THOMAS DUNN.

Wise men say nothing in a dangerous time.

If there is anything to be "Dunn" Bill can do it. He has been under Mr. Hunter's guiding hand for four years and we expect big things from him some day.

Noted for his silence.

JOSEPH DURKIN.

Never out of mischief.

"Joe" is some boy. He certainly is a French shark. He will never have a nervous breakdown from study. A great friend of Charlie's.

Noted for his bluffing.

HELEN MIRIAM EARLS.

Magnificent spectacle of human happiness.

"Often the smallest packages are the most precious" is applicable to Miriam and she can put it to the test and win out every time. She is never any trouble to her teachers, if what we hear is true.

Noted for her curly hair.

ROBERT ERICKSON.

As fleet as Mercury.

"Bob" is one of our track stars (?). And also a member of the Industrial class. He will be a great help in our relay race (?).

Noted for his A's and B's.

IRENE EWEN.

Pluck up thy spirits, look cheerfully upon me.

Rene is always cheerful, in-va-ri-ably so. (Did you get that word?) If you see Irene you can be pretty sure of seeing Dot somewhere around and vice versa. This year she has been trying to display athletic ability. Those "specs" make her look learned, but don't be easily deceived.

Noted for her good nature and her fidelity to Dot, alias "Friday."

FRANK WESLEY FENNO, JR.

A jolly good sport.

That's Frank, or Mike, all over. According to certain young ladies he's the most beautiful man creature in the school. Do tell! But he's one of our best baseballers and also managed to help entertain Mr. Howe's fifth hour Math class. No wonder, he hails from Westminster.

Notorious for the above mentioned beauty, and Milly.

PEGGY BROWN FERGUSON.

Short but sweet.

Peggy always has a smile. How do you do it? You never can tell whether she is interested in you or not. Do you know who sat in front of her this year?

Noted for her sweet disposition.

BENJAMIN MORRIS FIEGAR.

An inspirer of noise.

In other words, Benny is one of our far-famed cheer leaders. He is also some debater and Dame Rumor has it that he has also made a hit as a shoe-salesman. Besides his other faults, Ben is a shark at German and Spanish.

Noted for his oratorical ability (?).

NATHAN FILANSKY.

Behold the child of nature's law,
Pleased with a rattle, tickled with a straw.

"Jitney" is one of our easy-going classmates who treats life as a joke. His smile is certainly a great attraction to the female sex. I'd hate to be his stenographer. "Nathan, the ship is sinking." "What do we care? It don't belong to us." Fifth hour Math.

Noted for his rascality and attention to out-of-town girls.

JOHN EDWARD FITZGERALD.

Little of stature but big of mind.

John is one of our little men. He is one of Mr. Howe's fifth hour Math sharks, also a member of the famous sixth hour Civics class. He demonstrated a great farming ability in his Junior year. He is somewhat of a Spanish athlete.

Noted for the part in his hair.

PHILIP FLAUM.

Silence, when nothing need be said,
Is the eloquence of discretion.

Flaum is not as quiet as he looks. We know because we saw him at Miss Powers' theatre party. Don't worry, Flaum, we'll never tell who was with you. Take the showcase out of the window, the sun will wear the shine off the diamonds.

Notorious for his studious expression.

GERTRUDE PAULINE FOGARTY.

The price of wisdom is above rubies.

Gertrude and Marion J. are inseparable, that's the kind of friendship to have. They study pretty hard, too. What one doesn't know, the other does. Gertrude is bound for Normal School, and we all wish her success.

Noted for her devotion to Marion.

DOROTHY SIBYL FOSS.

None knew her but to love her,
None named her but to praise.

"Dot" is one of the live wires of the class—in studies, class work, and mischief. I wonder if Dot has really vexed Mr. Hubbard or did he just "simulate" it? Dot has never been known to think about anything—not even the boys.

Noted for her light-hearted joy.

JOSEPH FULDA.

Let's to billiards.

"Joe's" time is spent mostly at the Central trying to beat Hoppe's record in pool. He is one of our pool sharks. If he did not spend the rest of his time trying to entertain the fair sex we think he could spend a little more on his lessons.

Noted for not having his lessons.

ALENE GOODSPEED.

A modest, meek, and melancholy maid,
Who, most of the time, looks sorrowful and staid.

That's Alene all over. But she can laugh and enjoy a joke as much, as anybody who knows her will tell you. She's got some brains too. We know that because she won third prize on the music essay.

Noted for her I've-lost-my-last-friend expression.

GEORGE GOULD.

He never smokes, he never drinks,
Of a game of cards he'd never think.

George is Mr. Dooling's Greek shark. He spends all his time on study, but, sh! He has been known to swear! He used to work at a butter store, but he was so conscientious he insisted on giving each customer extra weight.

Noted for his bow tie.

ALICE MAY GOULDING.

She sings like one immortal.

Alice is one of the very few songbirds of the class. She is also a pianist, and is headed for the Boston Conservatory, where we expect to hear great things from her.

Noted for her musical ability.

ALDO P. GRECO.

You do it this way.

Aldo is a Math shark. (Don't worry, we know it.) During his Senior year he has been solving the mysteries of Algebra, Math, and Physics. He once had ambition to be a fluent Frenchman but has given up hope, but not the spaghetti.

Noted for his arguments for Italy and his interest in the girls.

WALDEMAR HERMAN GROOP.

As smooth as Hebe's his unshaven cheek.

Although we hate to admit it, Walt is one of our roughest members. They say he uses scissors to clip his beard once a week and he has been seen trying, but in vain, to smoke cubebs. But he showed Shepard how to be a fine business manager for the Red and Gray. He believes in the old adage, "A penny saved is a penny earned." Rumor says that he plans to enter Simmons next fall.

Noted for his innocent expression and his ability to decorate the High School.

JENNETTE ROWE GRUENER

And still the wonder grew and grew
That one small head could carry all she knew.

Jennette is, without exception, the smartest girl in the school. She would think it an unpardonable sin to go home with anything less than an A on her report card. Jennette honored our class by winning the 1919 first prize on the music essay. We have noticed that Mr. Hubbard appreciates a good student when he gets one.

Noted for her A's.

BERNICE ANN HARTNETT.

Her conversation has no bitterness,
Nor her company any tediousness.

We don't know much about Bernice, but notwithstanding that we like her first rate. She is another of our numerous quiet ones, but can pull good marks.

GRACE MARGUERITE HEFFERNAN.

A lassie dark, with raven locks.

Grace has been with us for four years and has made a good classmate, although she is always seen and not heard. But what do we hear about her and "Rebecca," who seem to enjoy skiing and coasting? Is it true, Grace?

Noted for the twinkle in her eye.

ROBERT LANDIS HERSHEY.

With knowledge stamped upon his brow.

What Bob doesn't know isn't worth knowing. At the end of each marking, when Mr. Woodbury asks all the "A" pupils to rise, Bob just hates to but it's his duty. Bob is also a good sportsman. He was our editor of the Red and Gray, and also the star of the class play. Bob is popular with all, but we think we know whom he would like to be most popular with. Ask him. It happened in Detroit; so did Bob.

Noted for his close relations with C. T.

EDITH CLARA HODGE.

Silence is golden.

Edith is an authority on U. S. Government. If you wish to know who our representative to Congress from Massachusetts is, ask Edith. She knows.

Noted for her sunny smile.

RICHARD MORGAN HOLLAND.

Of quiet and studious aspect he.

"Dick" is one of those fellows we seldom hear from, but he has stuck faithfully to the class and so deserves some credit. He has also demonstrated this year that he can defend himself. He is also quite a chauffeur when he doesn't lose his way.

Notorious for his inconspicuousness, and his love for Burdo.

GEORGE ROBERT HOOPER.

Arise, shake the hayseed from off thee.

"Harry" hails from Shirley, the town that made suspenders famous. He is a fine printer, especially of his own jokes. Did he ever tell you it? He has been known to speak to a girl, but he may change.

Noted for his jokes.

GLADYS MARION HORNBROOK.

With mirth and laughter let old wrinkles come.

Never a worry has she, but a devoted friend from 347 Blossom street. How about it, Gladys? Gladys must have a pull with M. C. S. to get an A.

Noted for her love of dancing.

HUGO JAMNBACK.

The Boy Wonder.

Besides being an author of detective stories, a musician, and a linguist, Hugo is also quite a scientist. We note that of late he has been blowing at a flute in the orchestra, where he used to wield a fiddle. We wonder why the change. Perhaps he likes to blow.

Noted for his wonderful chemical ability.

EVELYN MARIE JOHNSON.

Sometimes friends are handy.

When "Evy" makes a new acquaintance she holds on to him. Theatre parties often prove enjoyable. She believes silence is golden.

Noted for her shyness before superiors.

JOHN JACOB JOHNSON.

Silence is golden.

"Jake" is one of the silent members of our class. He firmly believes in the above saying. He has been a member of the Industrial course for four years, and we expect to see him holding Opie's job some day.

Noted for his smile.

BLANCHE MILLICENT JONES.

Bright as a summer's cloudless sky,
With stately tread she moves.

Blanche is another of our part-time students. How does Milda ever stand it to be without you every other week? Blanche is very popular among the boys.

Noted for her coiffure.

MARION ESTHER JOY.

As a wit, if not first, in the very first line.

Marion carries home an excellent report card every two months, to the envy of most of us. She believes in living up to her last name by being "Joyful" all the time, and also believes that everyone should. We sincerely thank you, Marion, for your work on this book. Noted for not being absent, tardy, or dismissed her whole four years.

FRANCIS XAVIER R. KEATING.

And when a lady is in the case,
You know all other things give place.

"X-Ray" has been one of our leading athletes the last few years, and proved a great asset as captain of the track team. He intends to go to Normal. Do you blame him? Why does he like iodine? They are always together.

Noted for his girl friends.

IDA MAE KELLY.

A little maid, yet wondrous wise.

When Elna is not assisting Miss Miner, Ida is, and she makes a success of it. One glance can calm the "Sophs" who love to titter.

Noted for her noise (?).

ELIZABETH FRANCES KENNEDY.

Life hath no dim and lowly spot
That doth not in her laughter share.

"Libby" is very popular with everyone she knows and she knows everyone. However, by her smile she has fatally attracted one. Of course it is unnecessary to add, male.

Noted for her love of studies.

ANNIE ESTHER LAIHO.

I know her by her modest air.

Annie is one of our future stenographers. She bothers Mr. Howe terribly the week she is in school. However, she has done well in all her courses, for which she deserves some credit.

Noted for her demureness.

WALTER EMIL LANDIN.

What I am, I must not show,
What I am, thou canst not know.

Walter has been exceedingly quiet in school, but that is no crime. He is one of Putnam's crack mechanics and we expect to see him running a machine shop of his own some day.

Chief occupation—minding his own business.

PAUL JOSEPH LEACH.

Life is real, life is earnest.

"Tessie," otherwise known as "Derby," is a realistic sort of person. He is noted for his winsome ways with girls. He surely had some time mastering those long words in his role in the class play. Speaking about ties, "mine speak for themselves."

Noted for his riding and his tales.

THOMAS FRANCIS LEAHY.

Oh, what a noble mind is here o'erthrown!

"Tom" would be a brilliant scholar were it not for the distractions in all his classes. But still he manages to get by with a few A's and B's. He comes from West, and believes in "West Fitchburg against the world." Tom is a track star and one of the best relay men. He has a partiality for the name of Dorothy.

Noted for his deep voice.

BEATRICE ARTEMISE LEMAY.

Merry as the day is long.

We hear that Beatrice is a French shark and we believe it. We also hear that there is a steady caller at Beatrice's house who lives on the South Side. His name is—but we'll let Beatrice tell you herself.

Noted for her steady caller.

DOROTHY MAY LESURE.

She is pretty to walk with
And witty to talk with,
And pleasant, too, to think on.

"Dot" is an excellent Latin scholar, but she frequently arouses Mr. Hubbard's ire by her interruptions. She is noted for her following (?). Dorothy is headed for Mt. Holyoke, where we are sure she will add to the fame of F. H. S.

Favorite expression, "This is no place for a minister's son." We wonder why.

EINO AUGUST LILOIVA.

The world knows little of its famous men.

Eino is another knight of the machine shop. He is a mechanic too, we hear.

Noted for his tailor-made clothes.

ELEANOR LONGLEY.

Hist! Did someone speak?

Eleanor comes from Shirley, where they must grow soft voices. But some people like them and Eleanor has at least one admirer on the football team. No, we won't mention his name, Eleanor.

Noted for appealing eyes and her unassuming air.

ANNA MARY MADIGAN.

Deep in thought, and word, and deed.

How about it, Anna? Don't you wish Mr. H——d thought the same? Never mind, Anna is one of the popular commercial students and is very pleasing company.

Noted for her curly, raven locks.

WAINO JOHN MAKI.

A perfect thing needs no praise.

"Happy" is "Opie's" right-hand man. He works at the Industrial Machine Works every other week, and there puts into practice what he learns in school.

Chief occupation, playing baseball (?).

CLYDE NELSON MANSUR.

Won't you wait till the cows come home?

"Mink" hails from that God-forsaken town of Westminster. But we would let him pass if that were the only thing against him. But when it comes to Coffie Fraps and auto brakes Mink is right there. Mink's degree is A. P. (after Phelps).

Noted for being Mary Cushing's pet. She loves him like C. T. loves prohibition.

HELEN AMANDA MARSHALL.

I never get a chance to speak,
My voice is always lost in the din.

"Helen" has shown that she has some knowledge of Latin since she entered this school. Never was she known to hurry; one reason for this is that bag filled with books. It will take some man to interest Helen.

Noted for her good-nature.

OLIVE MARSHALL.

The mildest manners with the gentlest heart.

When Olive speaks, which is seldom, her soft voice is music to one's ears. Olive doesn't believe in overstudying, but we think she has the right idea.

Noted for aforementioned soft voice.

HELEN ELIZABETH McCARTHY.

A simple maid and proper too.

Another quiet Miss from 28. Helen is extremely quiet, but she certainly knows how to pull good marks.

Noted for her shyness.

MARGARET CHRISTINA McCARTHY.

I give commands with my eyes alone.

Margaret is seen more than she is heard. She likes to have a good time, although she doesn't strive very hard to get it. The boys admire Margaret more than she is aware of.

Noted for her dimples.

ELIZABETH MARGARET McDONALD.

Happy am I, from care I am free.
Why aren't they all contented like me?

"Why, you haven't read your book!" How careless of you, Elizabeth! She is so small that W. J. D. doesn't know when she is there and when she isn't. Elizabeth and Evelyn are the best of pals.

Noted for her love of Civics.

JOSEPH FRANCIS McDOWELL.

If there is anything you wish to know, ask me.

Here we have another laborer of the machine tool industry. He delights to raise Mr. Hunter's anger to the flashing point.

Noted for what he's not noted for.

GEORGE FRED McGRATH.

Too much study is a reducer of flesh.

George, otherwise known as "Scotchy," not for silence in the school, but he's there when it comes to dances. He made some "hit" as a crook in our class play.

MARY JOSEPHINE McINERNEY.

Sober, steadfast, and demure.

To the above we should have added well-liked, as the party recently given to her would tend to illustrate.

Noted for—, you know.

MARY CATHERINE McINTOSH.

A modest, meek, and unassuming maid.

Mary is one of our brightest pupils, especially in Civics. When she is not studying she is taking care of a few children, which she does as well as her lessons.

Noted for those kids.

JOSEPH BERNARD McKENNA.

Let me dance and life will come easy.

"Joe" is some dancer and freight hopper. He believes he is going to be a brakeman or fireman. Joe does not believe in girls.

Noted for his fancy dancing on sidewalks.

FRANCIS BURKE McMURRAY.

Trust him not who seems a saint.

Francis is one of the efficient salesmen at Billy Lyons'. He is also one of "Red" Powers' French sharks. He is quiet in school, but is lively enough outside. He looked like real "bull" in the class play.

JOSEPH ALOYSIUS McNABB.

I follow the girls around.

"Joe" believes in getting to school, no matter what time. Some day we expect to see him proprietor of a drug store, and wouldn't be surprised if it was located somewhere near Central street. How about it, Joe?

HELEN VICTORIA MEYER.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?

Helen, unlike many other members of our noted class, is very quiet, thus fulfilling the rule that children should be seen and not heard. Miss Meyer's quietness has M. C. S.'s goat. We're glad some one can get it.

Noted for her quietness.

HARRY MILLER.

He ceas'd, but left so pleasing on their ears
His voice that list'ning still they seemed to hear.

Harry is one of our modest boys. He is very bashful in school, but not out of school, as many young ladies know. Harry won the prize speaking contest his Junior year.

Noted for his elocutionary ability. No wonder, he drives a "petit Henri."

ESTHER MOECKEL.

Nor bold, nor shy, nor short, nor tall,
But a new mingling of them all.

Esther loves to take notes in A. H., we know. This is judged by her expressions of supreme content while she is doing it. But outside of school, she deals out flowers to a certain class of people which you all know. We don't know whether or not she receives them, also.

Noted for her wavy hair.

JAMES FRANCIS MORIARTY.

I am monarch of all I survey.

"Jim" is one of the class's best bull-throwers, therefore M. C. S.'s right-hand man. He is always arguing with Nolan on anything. Nevertheless his elocutionary ability served him well in the class play.

Noted for his contradictions in Civics and his favorite pipe. Also others' Turkish Trophies!

LOUIS PETER MORIN.

His limbs are cut in manly mold,
For handy sports in contest bold.

Louis is one of our star athletes. He shines in all lines of sport. As quarterback on our football team he could not be excelled. He also excels in other lines—ask Rach—, she knows. But use your ingenuity; you know what we mean. Louis is also our baseball captain.

Noted for his tonsorial ability.

LESLIE GEORGE MORRIS.

As idle as a painted ship upon a painted ocean.

"Red" never studies anything except Civics, but he makes an exception there because he adores M. C. S. so devotedly. He greatly admires Ir-n- but hesitates to tell her. We hope to see "Red" being taken care of by a loving wife some day. "Red's" not funny, it's his physog.

Noted for his witty talk, and his classical use of "them."

MARGARET JOSEPHINE MULLAHY.

A lassie dark with raven locks.

Another dark miss from 28. She is always the first one out of 28 in the morning to assembly hall exercises. She must be anxious to get there.

Noted for style of hairdressing.

MARY AGNES MULLANEY.

Bashfulness is an ornament of youth.

This fits Mary to a "T" or like a barrel. She is a member of our orchestra and helps to make it what it is. Don't misinterpret our meaning.

Noted for being so quiet (until she gets going).

EUGENE CUSICK MURPHY.

'T is pleasant to see one's name in print.

"Juicy" is Mr. Woodbury's esteemed office boy the fourth period. He deserves a lot of credit (?) for being editor of the classbook. He managed to get a football letter after much hard work.

Noted for his grin and his great (?) amount of outside study.

ELLIOT CARL NIELSON.

Nothing to do till to morrow.

Elliot has been a member of the Industrial course for four years and has been a constant source of worry to Mr. Hunter. He will never get a nervous breakdown from studying, that is sure.

Noted for his laugh.

LAURA MARIE NIELSON.

A wee small maid with a wee small voice.

When Laura recites her lessons, she always speaks soft and low and her teachers never hear her. Whether there is method in her madness, we don't know. Nevertheless, she did good work on the Red and Gray for the last two years, and is also a good sport.

Noted for her big, gruff (???) voice.

OSCAR HENRY NILSON.

Much study is a worrier of flesh.

Pleasure before business is Oscar's motto. He worries about his marks but never cares to improve them. He has pursued the Industrial course while in school and is Mr. Hunter's stand-by. How's Clarice?

Chief occupation—looking for trouble.

JAMES ALFRED NOLAN.

Give me the moonlight and give me the girl.

When it comes to sports Jim's right there. Jim certainly made a fine football captain. Studies would never bother him if they didn't require so much time.

Noted for his knowledge of Civics and love for M. C. S.

RUTH ELIZABETH NOURSE.

A daughter of the gods,
Divinely tall and most divinely fair.

Ruth is one of the Civics sharks of the class. Her principal occupation is studying Civics to please Miss Smith. Agnes and Ruth are mighty good friends.

THOMAS BALMFORTH NUSSEY.

Oh! the sweet girls for me.

"Tom" is one of the few high school chasers. He believes in walking up Main street from the Y. M. C. A. to the Sentinel office. All the well-dressed people in town are patrons of his store, so thinks Tom.

Noted for his deep stuff.

MARY VERONICA O'HORO.

It's not always size that counts, but personality.

Mary is another member of Room 28. We are glad to have her with us after several months' absence. She always has a smile ready even on the darkest days.

Noted for her good-nature.

ELSIE INGEBORG OKSANEN.

She has wit, fun, and fire.

Elsie is one of the artists of our class and spends most of recitation time drawing vampires. Studying doesn't bother Elsie much, but she manages to bluff her way through. We notice she has a liking for the other sex.

Chief occupation—amusing classmates with her drawings.

FRANCES LEETA OSGOOD.

My heart's in the Highlands
A-chasing the dear.

How things do change! Once she had curls, now she has none. We guess she gave them to Herbert. Say, Frances, what time is it?

Noted for her brillant Civics recitations.

AARNE JOHN PAAKKARI.

His pencil drew whate'er his soul designed.

Aarne is a jack-of-all-trades. He is a draftsman, artist, actor, and photographer. He has been under Opie's supervision for four years and this training surely ought to be the keynote to success.

Chief occupation—taking pictures.

HAZEL BLANCHE PAGE.

Often the smallest packages are the most precious.

"Freckles" is some actress. She proved this in the Junior Red Cross play and the class play. In school she is accompanist for that body called, out of pity, the "orchestra." Outside of school she plays second fiddle (figuratively speaking, of course). That's all right, Hazel, Mary Cushing says freckles are healthy.

Noted for aforementioned freckles and P. J.

RUTH PEABODY.

Lo, I am with you always.

Ruth certainly is with you wherever there is any fun. Her brilliant accomplishment happened in her Sophomore year. She read a theme from an empty piece of paper.

Noted for her smiles.

DORA PENAN.

She is little but she is wise.

Dora is one of our little mites, but can keep pace with anyone. Dora spends most of her time in trying to get good marks.

Noted for that long hair.

JAMES BERNARD PERAULT.

A cigarette for me and I will be happy.

"Slam" is one of our popular Mecca smokers, but nevertheless he makes a good baseball manager. He is a past master (along with Bill, Louis, and P. J.) in the fine art of entertaining "Popper Howe" the fifth period. He has been seen around the upper common much of late. Have you seen him?

Noted for that awful grin.

LARLETTE PERRY.

She gazed upon the world with queenly stare.

Larlette was the graceful heroine of the class play. She has been here only two years but we are glad she came. We know of one at West Point but we wouldn't tell, of course. It's a wonder there are not more.

Noted for her acting.

ERMININE KATHLEEN PORTER.

Silence reigns supreme.

Erminine hasn't much to say, but we notice she is a good observer. She is one of Miss F.'s good pupils, but when it comes to reading her own handwriting Erminine isn't there.

Noted for her gentility.

MARTHA ELLEN PYYNY.

To have loved her is a liberal education.

If you don't believe the above, ask H. W. G. We dare say he knows. Although Martha says, "We can't get everything we want in this life," she gets very nearly all one could desire in the line of marks. Then, there's W——r. She is the recipient of B—l's sign language in Math. We wonder what the conversations are about?

Noted for her good marks and pleasing unconventional personality.

SARA FRANCES QUINN.

The bashful virgin's sidelong looks of love.

Sara spends her afternoons working in a local store. We don't see much of her, but we wish we could.

Noted for those spectacles.

ANNA LENORE RAFUSE.

We cannot fight for love as men may do,
We should be wooed and were not made to woo.

Anna's time is spent mostly in 27. Is it because Gr— sits there, we wonder? If you see Kate, look for Anna, if you see Anna look for Kate. They are inseparable.

Noted for her dislike of the opposite sex (?).

HELEN EDNA ROBINSON.

Sober, steadfast, and demure.

Helen is one of our West Fitchburg members, and she is a joy to the teachers because she knows how to mind her "biz." She and Helen M. are almost inseparable; in other words, we almost always see the two together.

Noted for her unobtrusiveness.

GLADYS MARY ROONEY.

Smart and studious is she.

Gladys is one of our bright pupils. She manages to pull off those A's and B's. And when it comes to a violinist, Gladys can't be beat. Rain or shine she has always been with us. She is one of M. C. S.'s bright lights.

Chief occupation, tuning up her violin.

CHESTER BERNARD ROOT.

Shy and demure in looks is he.

"Ches" may look quiet, but as we all know, looks sometimes are deceitful, which is true in this case. We have seen some of his excellent work at Manual Training, also his ability as a fiddler.

Noted for his music (?).

QUENTIN LIONEL ROUX.

Oft with anxious care,
Adjusted twice his tie and hair.

Cater spends his leisure hours at the "Central," but there also seems to be some attraction in Leominster that keeps him out late nights. We wonder what it is. Now we know.

Noted for his bow ties.

GERTRUDE MARY RYAN.

Naught a word spake she more than was need.

Gertrude is very modest. She has a very quiet and unassuming manner.

Noted for her modesty.

JANET AGNES RYAN.

The angel of the school.

Janet is one of the lively members of our class. We can account for this, as she comes from up West. Janet is kept busy either in writing notes, jollying the boys, or going to afternoon sessions—a great deal of the first and a lot of the last.

Noted for that curl.

DORIS AGNES RYDER.

When fun and duty clash,
Let duty go to smash.

Doris and Ruth are always so afraid that they won't get to school at least fifteen minutes before it begins that they have to start early and then run most of the way. You may think she is a quiet sort of a girl, but you don't know Doris.

Noted for her flirting—at times.

TYYNE MARIA SAARI.

Small, but bright withal.

Tyyne doles out hardtack at the lunch counter, although she can hardly see over the counter. In her classes she is quiet and unassuming and tries to give the impression of having hidden knowledge. She expects to enter Radcliffe next year. Fine, go to it, Tyyne.

Noted for her height, or rather, lack of height.

ESTHER MARGARET SHEA.

One of Erin's fair daughters.

Esther is one of our pupils who love to study (????) and thoroughly enjoys her law class. We notice Esther is kept busy ushering movie patrons to their seats.

Noted for her grin.

HELEN CATHERINE SHEA.

Thought is deeper than speech.

Helen is deeper than our smart pupils and certainly makes a hit at the bank. She is very quiet at school, but from all appearances she is not so outside. How about it, Helen?

Noted for her neat appearance.

FRANCIS SHEA.

'T was built for comfort.

"Fat" is a well known resident of Cleghorn. He likes sports, played football, and is a great hunter—that is, he travels through the woods with a gun—and a cigarette. Jimmy Mack advised "S. A." to study philosophy, said he's got the D now; all he needs is the Ph.

Favorite song, "Eliza Jane."

KATHERINE FRANCES SHEA.

If you love me, grin.

Kate is one of the best natured girls of the class. She can make excellent excuses—especially in English. We wonder what those conferences are about in 27.

Noted for her velvet hair-ribbon.

ANITA SHOR.

My virtues are not on the surface.

Anita is one of the best readers in the class. We hope to hear from her later as an elocutionist. Anita loves dramatics so well that she just can't stop guiding innocent people down the intricate paths of Shea's.

Noted for her dramatic ability.

DOROTHY VIOLA SIMONDS.

Few words suffice.

Dorothy is usually quiet, but we notice that she is ever ready for a good time. We understand that she certainly fits with Bill.

Noted for her pretty hair.

FRANCES MARY SMITH.

Let me enjoy life.

Never trouble your lessons until your lessons trouble you. This is certainly applicable to Frances, but she gets there just the same. Frances has been one of the mainstays of this book and we appreciate it.

Noted for that large and varied assortment of slip-ons.

GEORGE ARTHUR SMITH.

He's a man, take him for all and all.

Smithy is one of the best looking fellows in school. He came to us from way down south in Virginia. He spends most of his time and money in the Fitchburg Drug.

Noted for his knowledge of the mecca-ism of automobiles.

BEATRICE ANTOINETTE STACEY.

Small, but oh, my!

"B" looks rather prominent when she is at work in the G. P. Co., sometimes her silvery voice is heard to ring o'er the wire.

Noted for color and dimples.

EDWARD STEBBINS.

Life is a jest, and all things show it;
I thought so once, but now I know it.

"Ed's" one ambition in life is to keep his teachers worried, which he does wonderfully. Ed finally made his F in football this year. Where does Ed spend his time at recess? We could tell you, but what's the use? You have seen him for yourself. Any way, all he spends is time.

Noted for his big smile. Next.

CECILIA MARY SULLIVAN.

A strawberry blonde is she.

Cecilia is our shorthand shark. She certainly can take down those notes. She is very popular with the West Fitchburg boys. We understand that the parlor is occupied occasionally.

Noted for her talks with Mutt.

GRACE VERONICA SULLIVAN.

Pains of love be sweeter far
Than all the other pleasures are.

Grace is a second edition of "Mile-a-Minute Kendall" or something of the sort, for we always see her racing to and from school á tout vapeur, and at recess she is never in the same place two minutes, unless she is talking to ——; well, it is no secret.

Noted for her constancy to the one and only.

HELENA MARY SULLIVAN.

Still waters run deep.

Helen is one of our part-time pupils. She is one who is faithful to the golden rule. We wonder if her quiet ways and wavy hair have won the heart of one of the males of Simonds' office force?

Noted for her wavy hair.

RACHEL PAULINE SULLIVAN.

Then she will talk, ye gods, how she will talk!

Rachel always attends our athletic games, having admiration for one of the members of the team. She spends most of her time trying to kid Ralph along. Rachel is very studious (?). She also loves to use the telephone.

Noted for her ever-ready answers; also her red hair.

IRENE SUNBURY.

Speech is silver, silence is golden.

Irene came to us our sophomore year. There is not much to say about her except that she is conspicuous for her silence.

Noted for said silence.

JOHN JOSEPH SWEENEY.

Obedience to law is liberty.

If John would only believe in the above saying he would save himself a lot of trouble. He is the only gentleman of leisure in the Industrial course.

Chief occupation, getting Opie's goat.

HELEN WATSON TAIT.

No law doth need, who to herself is law.

Helen has been with us our whole four years but never makes herself obnoxious. Since Susie left our renowned class she seems to have been very lonesome, but has managed to pull through somehow.

Noted for her expression of blank dismay.

MARION GENEVIEVE TARBELL.

I have never seen
A beauty so deserving to be queen.

Marion is one of our lively girls, and is present at all dances. Incidentally she is some dancer. The relations between Marion and her studies are somewhat strained though we have seen her studying sometimes.

Noted for her petiteness.

ANNIE TATER.

Silence reigns supreme.

Annie is so quiet we don't know much about her. She is studious, but still she doesn't seem to exert herself and is not known to have spoken unless called upon.

MARY GRACE TAYLOR.

Her voice was ever soft, gentle and low.

Grace is one of the shy girls of the class, and hardly ever speaks unless spoken to.

Noted for her lack of voice.

LEWIS ALBERT TEEHAN.

I am a fighter brave and bold,
But I can run if my feet get cold.

Teehan is one of our cute little ones. He thinks he should have gotten the offer to fight Willard. We hear he is quite a golfer, but golf isn't rough enough for Lewis. Football letter man. We hear there are two of 'em, Leetman.

Noted for his slang expression, razzberries.

VIOLET MARION TETO.

Her big brown eyes smile constantly.

Violet is very quiet in school, but from all appearances not so outside. Most of her time is taken up entertaining laddies in khaki. Violet cannot get interested in Economics and Hunter knows the reason why.

Noted for her stylish veils.

HELEN CATHERINE TOOMEY.

Speech is the boon of womanhood.

The most conspicuous thing about Helen is her tortoise-shell "specs" which she has just donned this past year. At times she is very quiet; at other times, just the reverse.

Noted for being a jolly little girl.

HAZEL FLORENCE TOWNSEND.

As welcome as the flowers in May.

Hazel is our most accomplished pianist, and we are proud of her. She has several admirers from the Junior class. Nicht wahr? Hazel has always been a loyal supporter of 1919. Noted for her playing.

JAMES TUCKER.

Give me peace.

Jim is one of those quiet boys whom nothing disturbs. He is known to frequent only four places: West Fitchburg, the High School, the church, and—Brigham Park (?). Jim is interested in one girl alone. Alone is good (?).

Noted for his timidness.

RUTH UPHAM.

Full many a flower is grown to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness on the desert air.

Ruth is not widely famed but is popular among her friends. We often wonder in whom Ruth is really interested.

Noted for her walk.

GLADYS VAUGHAN.

Does he interest you?
No more than the others.

Gladys is famed for her many suitors. Believe me, Gladys is some dancer. It is a lonely day for Gladys when she can't find one. Gladys is one of Mr. Dooling's dilemmas, but she deserves credit for that.

Noted for the many suitors.

EDWARD VOEDISCH.

I talk no more for nothing.

"Ed" hails from Cleghorn, so we cannot blame him. He is a pool shark of great renown. Ask him if you don't believe us. He made one of the biggest hits of the season as the Jap in the class play.

Noted for his long-drawn speech.

HENRY GUSTAVE WAGNER.

A smile for everyone.

Henry is our most popular football hero. He was injured in a game last fall and when he returned to school after a long absence everybody began to breathe more freely.

Noted for his hair-comb.

MARGARET HELENA WALDRON.

In vain on study time away we throw.

"Peggy" doesn't believe in wasting valuable time on her studies, but she does believe in having a good time. We have heard things about nocturnal excursions.

Chief occupation—having a good time.

EINO VERNON WIITA.

He might be silent, and not cast away
His sentences in vain.

Eino's chief occupation is arguing with his teachers. He is kept busy afternoons at the News office. We hope he will soon become editor. Sh! He intends to go to Worcester Tech.

HAZEL BELLE WARNER.

Not much talk, a great, sweet silence.

Hazel's principal charm is her shyness. She always minds her own business, but we will forgive her for this.

Noted for her quietness.

WILLIAM CLARK WILKINS.

Why should we be made to study?

"Bill," as he is known among his friends, is an advocate of fewer lessons and less school. He believes in signs because he is always making them at Mar— in 26. We wonder what Bill would do without her? He is one of Miss Smith's Civics sharks. M. C. S. remarks to a Civics class that she has a pupil who cares only for the more serious discussions of the day and that she has been trying to change his extreme ideas and has succeeded. We advise her to take an eye-opener.

Noted for those arguments in 32.

MARGUERITE ELIZABETH WILSON.

So smooth, so sweet, so silvery the voice.

Marguerite appears studious; that is, during study hours. She is one of our model pupils, but we note that she likes to have a good time.

Noted for her pleasant voice.

JOHN HERBERT WOODS.

A hundred mouths, and hundred tongues,
A throat of brass inspired with iron lungs.

John is one of our noisy brand. He makes Mr. Hunter's life miserable the second and third periods each day by his superabundance of energy. Some thick woods.

Chief occupation—borrowing (?).

ANNA LUCILE YOUNG.

Still waters run deep.

Anna is a part-time pupil and helps to keep a Fitchburg lawyer's office running. Anna does not confine herself to high school boys. Eh, wot, Anna?

Noted for her smile.

CLASS SONG

Words by
JENNETTE ROWE GRUENER

Music by
HELEN ELSIE BLACKWELL

We've kept our tryst for four long years,
Been loyal, faithful, true;
But now the time for parting nears,
When we must say adieu.
To do our duty we have striven,
Our honor to uphold,
That ever praises may be given
To the class of the Black and Gold.

We've finished now our high school toils,
And leave, new paths to greet;
We'll win our fight and spread our spoils
At Alma Mater's feet.
We'll strive hard to increase her fame,
As her true warriors bold;
"The highest point" should be the aim
Of the class of the Black and Gold.

Although we leave with much regret,
The future hope gleams bright;
On life's pathway we'll not forget
The teachings of the right.
To meet with spirit true and strong
Whate'er the years unfold,
Is the pledge of this, the parting song
Of the class of the Black and Gold.

CLASS HISTORY

OUR noble and dignified class entered this building in the year 1915, and undertook to make the two-session plan a success. And we did make it a success, by setting an example which all succeeding classes have abided by. In this year we astounded our teachers by the huge extent of our knowledge and the brilliancy of our recitations, to say nothing of the record-breaking number of periods skipped.

In 1916 we were deemed fit to mingle with the other animals and started to attend school in the morning, to the delight, needless to say, of all the morning teachers. Principal Woodbury asked all classes to contribute to the Red Cross and we showed our patriotism by giving twice the amount of the Seniors and one and one-half times the amount of the Juniors and Freshmen.

At the beginning of its Junior year the class of 1919 showed its sterling worth by its choice of class officers. During this year there were many war activities in which the class went "over the top" to the surprise and envy of the other classes.

The class pin and colors we selected were the best ever, and our motto, "Ad Astra," certainly has been lived up to most nobly. Our class party was voted a huge success both socially and financially, and finally there was only one event which marred our happiness. We lost the relay race. But we were defeated by the fastest relay team ever in the high school by only one half lap, and this lead would have been overcome if our popular president had not been temporarily disabled and unable to run.

We returned in our Senior year weighty with knowledge and most anxious to dispose of it. Our teachers admit that never has such superhuman intelligence been shown by other classes. We also excelled in athletics, twenty-four Seniors winning their letters. We close our splendid career with the strong intention of winning the relay race and so terminating the history of the class of 1919 in the Fitchburg High School. Then, entering a wider field, we will attempt to equal our record and bring still more honor to the fair name of '19. All hail to 1919!

11. At last our basketball team awakes.
13. Mrs. R. Emrich speaks most interestingly on her experiences in Turkey and France.
14. Oh "L'il 'Liza!"
15. Popular demonstration of "Carter's Underwear."
16. Nora V. explains that the special devil begins with capital D and any old devil doesn't.
17. Morin tries to read Scottish poetry.
20. The feminine portion of Senior Class display their ability in æsthetic dancing.
21. "Smiles" vs. "Styles."
22. It's a case of sink or swim in the girls' basement.
23. Mr. Clifton R. Hayes, Mr. Beers, Mrs. Alvah Crocker, Jr., appeal for workers for tag day for devastated France.
24. Grand rush for tag day workers!
27. Prizes awarded for tag day. Even the bananas were tagged.
28. Where does Mr. Coffin get his buttonhole bouquets?
29. C. T. had his trousers pressed recently.
30. Please come to the Girls' Debating Club!
31. "W. W." starts a warm debate second period.

FEBRUARY.

3. Welcome back, Miss Stratton!
4. We discover that we have some Senior canaries.
5. The picture pest has returned.
6. "Larlette" read report of Girls' Debating Club.
7. Roosevelt memorial exercises with Charles Brooks, Ruth Nourse, and Harry Miller starring.
10. Physical culture classes go to Whalom skating. Doctor's services required next day (?) Mrs. Woodbury gives an address on Lincoln. Niggers increasing 400 every 24 hours.
11. Piano solos in singing period.
12. Going to the Justamere?
13. "Bill" places a mouse in the wastebasket. Brave man.
14. Valentine's Day. Going to Dot's party?
15. Some basketball team. Keating seems to be star basket-shooter! 11 to 7 at Ashburnham.
17. One should roll one's soup over 30 times before swallowing it? How about it, Miss Smith?
18. The next problem is getting the men!
19. Who said another tag day?
20. Every thing will be "worthy" by and by.
21. Find a lost freshman in 22 thinking it to be 26. We will have to hire a guide. Going to take a girl to the Junior Class?
24. Long-looked-forward-to vacation.

MARCH.

3. We return after a week's furlough.
4. Dot Lesure plays "Mickey" for us. Thank you.
5. What has happened to the orchestra? Greatly diminished.
6. Don't get the chance to go to a fire every day, so let's skip!
7. Two P. M.'s for witnessing the fire without permission.
8. Basketball games with Leominster. Keating, Morin, Fenno, and Rice the stars. Oh, we beat them!
10. Mr. Hubbard believes in preparedness. When the wind blew like "hm, hm" you know! He had a black rope through his specs and wound securely around his ear. Martina returns after a long vacation.
11. Mr. Coffin fails to appear. "Merry Christmas" entertains the second hour Civics class at recess.
12. There are smiles in Mr. Dooling's third hour English class.
13. Another unlucky day.
14. Senior Class meeting.
17. The wearin' of the green. Even C. T. displays a green tie.
18. Mr. Coffin will have to ask for an admit slip the next time he appears. Hope none of the little Coffins are ill!

19. They toast the women in W. J. D.'s English class.
20. "Hugo" occupies his place next to Miss "W" after several weeks' absence.
21. Had rather a cinch in Civics this week, but! the worst is yet to come.
24. They say our "Dave" rose several feet in sixth hour last week. How about it, "Dave?" Mr. Hubbard in 37 says: "Some people travel with three trunks, two suitcases, and a bag. I don't but I know some women who do."
25. Most impressive memorial exercises and the dedication of the Wyman Memorial.
26. Miss Brown confiscates some pictures.
27. Some folks spend all recess covering books (for Mr. Hunter).
28. D— it. The "no school" bells must be out of order.
31. Wish we could be as well entertained every day, Mrs. Soper, Carl Halloran, and Clifton Marshall.

APRIL.

1. All fools aren't dead yet. Wonder if Mr. Coffin was afraid to show up?
2. Dr. James Walsh enlightens us on the life and character of Marshal Foch.
3. What is that on the floor, J. Ryan? Oh! That's only her pet cootie just escaped. Don't be alarmed.
4. Second rehearsal for the French demonstration.
7. The French classes royally entertain the rest of the school.
8. Mr. Coffin brings us a new song! Fa, la, la. Wish he would let us choose our own.
9. Beware of Merry Xmas. She's cross to-day.
10. Who said Civics test? Worse luck.
11. You don't know that? Why, you haven't read your book. It's right there.
12. Our baseball team makes a good beginning. 4 to 3.
14. What did you get in Civics? Z!
15. We continue the Fa, la, las.
16. Everybody seems to have the spring fever.
17. You have such a wonderful text-book. Don't you realize it?
18. Only one week more before vacation. Oh joy!
21. Talk extemporaneously, Nolan. Well done, Jimmy.
22. Everybody goes to the Review at Camp. Just imagine. They actually closed school.
23. Mike takes a nap in English class. Lots of sunburnt noses and cheeks after the day off.
24. So sorry I can't take all of you to Washington with me! Wonder if she really meant it?
25. "My dear— (pause of two or three seconds) friend," says M. C. S. to our "Joe." Better watch out, Joe.

MAY.

5. Everybody is feeling gay after his vacation. Had a corking good time in Washington!

6. Mr. Whitten and our Keat plead for track men. Did you ever see such modest boys? Never.
7. It rains while our honorable class was trying to have its picture taken.
8. Well, Tom, did you have a good time on your belated vacation in Boston?
9. Miss Eames and Mr. Hudson speak at morning exercises. You don't know what you missed by not going to the track meet. It was a regular two-ring circus. Thanks to the athletes.
12. Let us make a resolution, and practice what Miss Daniels told us this morning.
13. Signs of spring house-cleaning pervade the building. W. J. D. plays peek-a-boo with J. R.
14. Will Mr. Murphy and Miss Goodspeed please take the "Merchant of Venice" to the library? He doesn't know the way.
15. Miss Minott, Cooking teacher, and Mr. Farley, who visits us regularly, speak to us. Worcester Commerce wins track meet by ½ point. Curses!
16. The boys will be very much peeved if the girls keep having speakers they can't hear. Cheer up.
19. Will the gentleman who is trying to sing please keep on the key? We'd enjoy it much better. You want to train your car before you go before the public.
20. If you are not good, James, I'll tap you on the wrist ten times.
21. You are not 100 per cent efficient to-day, are you?
22. F. B. escapes from sixth hour study period. Adelberta had better keep her eyes open.
23. Soldiers' night! About 50 soldiers and 300 pupils served with delicious ice cream cones. Splendid showing of students.
26. Mr. Dooling exiles two pupils in third hour English class.
27. Quoting A. H. "I'm sorry there are any children so small that I must take them with me when I leave the room!"
28. Mr. Woodbury issues good news. No Civics tomorrow.
29. Memorial Day exercises. We enjoyed Mr. Dolan's talk very much. Who studies maps in Room 32? Anybody but M. C. S. herself? And she does, and knows everything, in her own estimation.

JUNE.

2. We are on the last lap of this year's drudgery.
3. Who said swimming?
4. The mosquitoes must have known that the French classes were going to have a picnic for they were there in large numbers.
5. Let's all have our hair cut Dutch cut! How about it, Edith?
6. 'T is June, the month of roses! Lulu B. displays a red one.
9. Chose the Senior class hymn.
10. Who said we didn't have any poets or musicians? We ought to be congratulated on our class song.
11. Mr. Wheble speaks to the Seniors. Hurrah for Wheble!
12. Some of us think M. C. S. needs a new pair of glasses to catch the cheaters who get A's.

13. Flag Day exercises in Room 32.
16. Oh you Civics tests! Isn't it peculiar how generous some people are?
17. We are nearing our finish.
18. Oh, boys! No more school. No more books (you know the rest!).
19. Class Day No. 1. Address by Major George R. Wallace, Jr. Scholarship announcements and awards.
 Girls' demonstration at Crocker Field.
20. Junior-Senior relay. Senior picnic at Whalom. Special cars at 11 o'clock.
 Juniors' reception to Seniors. Play, dancing, etc., in high school assembly hall.
22. Baccalaureate. Rev. G. Ernest Merriam.
23. Annual Alumni meeting.
24. Just think! this is our last report card!
25. Graduation exercises. We bade adieu to our dear old high school.
26. Senior Promenade. The last of our high school parties. We part to meet again.
 All's well that ends well.

THE END

THE FOOTBALL TEAM

FOOTBALL

THE past season was the first time a football team was able to practice on Crocker Field and the splendid showing made is a proof of the advantage of having one of the best athletic fields in the country. Despite the fact that over a month of practice was lost as a result of the influenza epidemic, Coach Chalmers turned out one of the strongest teams in the state.

The team played seven games, won five, lost one, and tied one. This is a remarkable record considering the calibre of the opponents encountered by the team.

Only one accident marred the season and that was the injury received by Henry Wagner in the Leominster game. At the close of the season, the letter men elected Waino Enholm, '20, captain of next year's team.

THE BASKETBALL TEAM

BASKETBALL

DURING the first part of the basketball season the outlook was gloomy as F. H. S. had not been represented in basketball for two years and only one candidate, Captain Morin, had had previous experience to any great extent. However, the team was extremely fortunate in obtaining Mr. Whitten, physical director, as coach. He succeeded in forming a fast team and the fellows supported him heartily.

Of nine games played, Fitchburg won five and lost four; by no means a bad showing, as the defeats were inflicted by the strongest and fastest teams of the state.

The playing of Captain Morin and Keating was the feature of the season.

THE BASEBALL TEAM

BASEBALL

THE call for candidates was sent out in the early part of April. Enough fellows came out to organize two nines. Only four of last year's letter men were left as a basis for this year's nine. However, enough material was found to organize a good team.

One asset which helped to bring several victories was the remarkable slab work of Max Read. Morin's hitting and fielding also was a great aid.

The results of the games are as follows:

Date	Place	Opponents	F. H. S	Opp.
April 12	Fitchburg	Worcester North High	5	4
April 19	Fitchburg	Worcester Classical	3	5

THE TRACK TEAM

TRACK

ON MAY 15 Fitchburg met Worcester Commerce at Crocker Field and was defeated in the closest track meet in the history of the school. The result was surprising as Worcester had swamped Fitchburg in an indoor track meet and expected to walk away with nearly all the points, but they were obliged to fight their hardest to win by one-half point.

Although Commerce High is credited with the victory, the meet is considered a remarkable one from the Fitchburg viewpoint. Physical Instructor Philip Whitten developed a team that gave the Worcester team a battle that will be long remembered. The result was in doubt until the very last event as Fitchburg was in the lead until the relay race which gave Worcester the meet.

THE CLASS PLAY

THE CLASS PLAY

"OFFICER 666," presented by the Class of 1919 on May 16 at Cumings Theater, was a decided success. The roles were handled with skill by members of the class. To Miss Helen F. Stratton, who directed the play, we owe the greater part of our success. The play was presented at the high school in the form of a "Welcome" for returned soldiers, sailors, and nurses, of the school. The third performance was given at the Y. W. C. A. Hostess House of Camp Devens. The school orchestra furnished selections at the first two performances under the direction of Miss Alice R. Pepin. The music at Camp Devens was furnished by the Athalia Trio, which includes Miss Gladys Rooney, Miss Helen Blackwell, and Miss Hazel Townsend. Miss Hoyt designed and made the costumes of Miss Taylor and Miss Page.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Bateato	Edward Voedisch
Michael Phelan	Paul Walsh
Whitney Barnes	Paul Leach
Travers Gladwin	Robert Hershey
Helen Burton	Larlette Perry
Sadie Small	Hazel Page
Mrs. Burton	Lillian Taylor
Alfred Wilson	William Wilkins
Watkins	George McGrath
Police Captain Stone	Thomas Leahy
Kearney	James Moriarty
Ryan	Francis Keating
Three Policemen	Francis McMurray, Frederick Brigham, Eugene Murphy

The following Committees, one from the faculty and one from the Senior Class, deserve mention for their splendid work.

FACULTY: Miss Helen F. Stratton, chairman; Miss Alice B. Hoyt, Miss Bertha L. Sherwin, Mr. John T. Howarth.

SENIOR CLASS—Charles F. Brooks, chairman; Sybell Lawrence, Larlette Perry, Lillian Taylor, Frances Smith, Jennette Gruener, Robert Hershey, Paul Leach, Paul Walsh.

JOKES

[Note.—If at first you don't get these jokes, copy them on a piece of tissue paper, then you can see through them.]

WHILE there is, of course, always room for an honest difference of opinion," M. C. S. was heard to say, "I can't understand how the man who holds an opinion different from mine can be honest in it, so I do not care to hear what he has to say."

Brown's cows may be all right, but we don't like his bull. Oh Professor!

Miss Brown: "What does Washington call the basis of good government?"
Nussey: "Religion and mortality."

A. P.: "I wouldn't marry the best man in the world."
"Mink:" "I'm sorry you feel that way, but I thank you for the compliment."

LOGIC

Animals are inquisitive,
Fitzgerald is inquisitive,
Therefore Fitzgerald is an animal.

Alquist: "Miss Sherwin, may I have a yellow block?"
Miss Sherwin: "Yes, if you use peroxide."

Miss Brown: "Can you combine the participles of "to have" and "to be?"
F. Shea: "Yes'm, behave."
Miss Brown: "Please apply it."

Hershey in Latin '19 (in Latin): "Damo, Damus, Damit."

Class Play—Hershey: "She was so fat she couldn't sink." Could he have meant anyone in the faculty?

M. C. S.: "I have floated for hours on the Salt Lake at Utah."
Heard from the back of the room: "She could float anywhere."

Miss Brown: "What are the principal parts of bent?"
Atkinson: "Bent, badly bent, broke."
Nussey: "The superlative suits me."

P. J. (translating French): "He kisses her."
Miss Powers: "Wrong tense! It should be in the imperfect, probably continued action."

M. C. S.: "Doesn't anyone know when the electors met for the election of George Washington? Why, I remember of reading it in the newspapers." Surmises are often correct.

J. Mack: "Does anyone know the melting point of water?"
No, do you?

The English went to Halifax. Why! Mary!

Miss Dunn: "Love is a large and wonderful thing, nothing like you see about here, and marriage is a thing not to be despised." How do you know?

Perault: "What kind of eyes are there?
J. Ryan: "Blue, black, and goo-goo."

ADVICE TO UNDERCLASSMEN.

When Mr. Howarth uses the wastebasket for a footrest, throw papers on the floor and don't disturb him.
Never hang your coats or hats on the statues, they are fully dressed.
Tip the office girl and you can skip any period.
Forget excuses and take an early morning constitutional.
Make love in assembly hall during stereopticon lectures.

M. C. S.: "Can't you read?
Alquist: "We haven't all got our books open."

CAN YOU IMAGINE

C. T. in a running suit?
Wilkins in church?
Brooks with a girl?
"Mary Cushing" at Palm Beach?
Miss Haskins at work?
"Father" Howe behind a stogie?

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1919, do will and ordain that this our last will and testament, duly signed and subscribed to, leave all that we do not possess and cannot appropriate to the F. H. S.

To Walsh, a consideration for his class.
To "Bart" Alquist, a real sense of humor.
To "Milly" Coleman, another Frank.
To the I. O. U. Club, a little tact and secrecy.
To the Sophomores, as much pep as we possess.
To M. C. S., something besides Professor Hart, say students or Moriarty's Practical Reference.
To Hazel Page, another P. J.
To Janet Ryan, a complete set of P. M.'s and a pair of angel's wings.
To Frank Fenno, a set of bones.
To C. T., the milk of human kindness.
To Waldemar Groop, a Gillette and a stick of "Williams."
To Brigham, another treasury.
To Lillian Taylor, an uncle to play the part with Auntie.
To "Bob" Hershey, the capture of —— ?
To Major Lowe, a current weekly and a little mercy on "Woody" Wilson.
To Greco, an unassuming air in fifth hour Math class.
To Miss Stratton, a real cast and a traveling show.
To M. C. S., our great admiration.
To the athletes, a blind faculty and all the tobacco they want.
To John Burke, a tailor-made hat.
To "Mother" Hubbard, a chaw.
